

Welcome to my house!

Oh, this is the living room!

Yes. My family usually watch TV and talk in here.

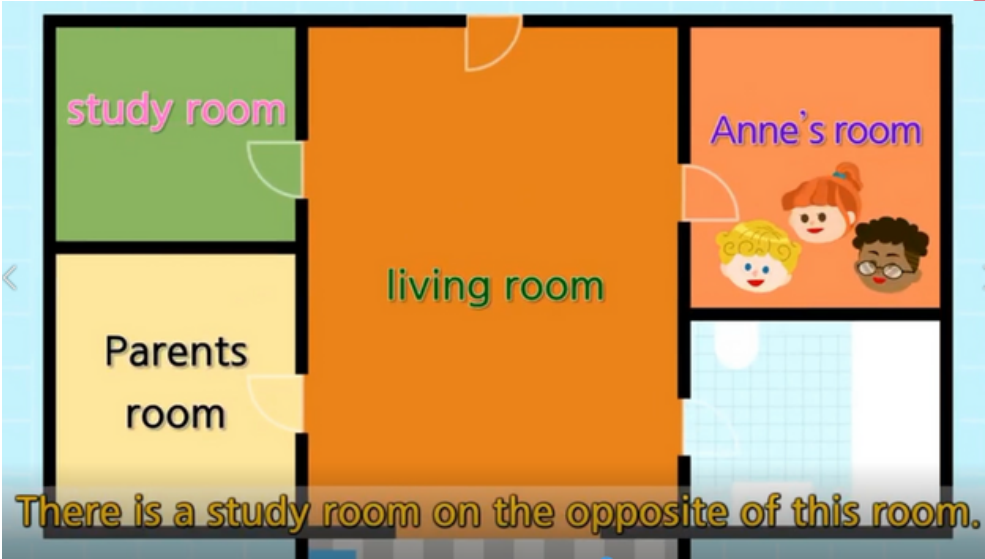

Oh. It looks so much neater than I thought.

A floor plan diagram of a house with four rooms. The central room is a large orange living room. To its left is a yellow parents room, and above that is a green study room. To the right of the living room is an orange room labeled 'Anne's room' which contains three cartoon characters. Below Anne's room is a white room with a blue grid pattern. The entire plan is set against a light blue background with pink heart shapes.
